THE FUGITIVE SLAVE LAW IN WASHINGTON. Recently, John Dean, esq., presented to the Circuit Court the petition of Daniel Breed for a writ of habeas corpus to Marshal Lamon, for the discharge of a colored man claimed by a citizen of Maryland THE DETENTION OF THE CANADA. as his slave, on the ground that said alleged fugitive is illegally detained, and the restraint and imprisonment are not authorized by the Fugitive Slave law A QUESTIONABLE APPROPRIATION. of 1850; in other words, that the law does not apply to the District of Columbia. Mr. Dean to-day continned his argument, to show the writ could not be would not grant the prayer, and to-day, said an appeal could be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States on the refusal, just as well as upon the writ. Further argument will be heard to-morrow. The Fugitive Slave law continues to be enforced. During this month, about fifty slaves have been returned to their chimants.

Those who ignorantly blame the Secretary of War THE CENSURES UPON THE WAR DEPARTMENT. Every member of the Cabinent, and it is believed every earnest friend of the Government here, detion and assuming the responsibility. Every night he is at the War Office for several hours giving orders by telegraph and receiving reports. He has the work of the loyal papers in the country. It has been already stated by Mr. Wilson, in the Senate, upon the highest authority, that the disposition of our forces, which is consured, was sanctioned. tion of our forces, which is censured, was sanctioned the same superintendence of military as of civil affairs, and no member of his Cabinet can justly be by the President; and it is equally true that it was approved by the whole Administration. Successes, such as the country did not anticipate, have already Acting Master A. W. Emerson deserted from the leaves for nearly a year. He long ago expressed the intention to resign this Spring.

THE DETENTION OF THE CANADA.

The simple explanation of the detention of the Canada by Lord Lyons, in order to path his dispatches on board, is this: He is in the habit of sending his dispatches by every Canard st-amer, forwarding them hence by a courier, who leaves at the last moment in order to take the latest official news. The railroads having been seized by the Government on Monday, he was unable to eend his dispatches until Tuesday; hence the delay. They doubtless contained some account of the disaster to Gen. Banks, and the consequent panie at Washington.

THE MILITARY PROTECTION.

Since Gen. Wadsworth made his power felt at the city jail and at Marchal Lamon's quarters, his military protections have, so far as is known, been respected by those who are devoting themselves to the execution of the fugitive slave law within the District.

In several cases notice has been given him by the Marshal, in accordance with the original agrehment, after making a thorough and impartial examination.

The operation required but a few minutes. The horse's head was turned round on one side persistently; he was made to perform some parotal circular movements to arrest plunging and kicking. He was made to feel that he was under the hands of a muster; gentle, but firm and eagacious. In a little while the leg of the animal was tifted with a strog-leg than the strong-leg than t while the leg of the animal was inted with a strog-gle; the strap was placed round the knee, the borse is on three legs, unable to run, and is placed on a rapid road to reform accordingly. Then another leg was strapped up. The animal resisted in all manner of ways, of course; but the activity, daring, and quickness of Mr. Rarey were an over-match. The horse was patted over.

quickness of Mr. Rarey were an over-match. The horse was patted over.

So sensible is the snimal to the subdoing hand, that Mr. Rarey said a horse may be tame on one side and wild on another: hence the necessity for general manipulation. When the horse is down, the legs are stroked—and the kicks gradually and rapidly subside into quiescence; and then the eye of the muster detects that the rest is complete, and haputs the hoof troculent and murderous a minute before to his head, or puts his head between the hoofs. The idea of kicking against authority having passed from "the horse's mind," assault and battery become impossible to him. In proportion as the horse is strenuous and slabhorn, must be be overthrown again and again. Mr. Earcy says he never injured a horse by this means.
